WOMEN MOVING FORWARD IN 1985 . . .

What a momentous year this has been for women! Geraldine Ferraro was the first woman candidate for the vice presidency. The importance of women's athletics was brought to the limelight by gold medal victories earned by women in the 23rd Olympiad. Their success shows what women with a zest for excellence can accomplish in the Eighties.

We feel privileged to honor in our book of women moving forward a woman who is constantly in motion — gold medalist Holly

Metcalf, Class of 1981.

At Mount Holyoke, Holly rowed varsity and was co-captain of the crew team. She took the spring of 1980 off to train for the 1980 Olympic team in Philadelphia, but was unable to compete due to the American boycott of the games. After graduation, the English and Music major took a job as the Mount Holyoke crew coach. In 1981 and 1982, Holly made the National team in the four oar boat, and in 1983 the eight-woman boat.

On August 4, 1984, Holly rowed in the women's eight oar boat, winning the first American Olympic gold medal in this event.

Described by some to have "the body of an athlete and the mind of a poet," Holly considers her gold medal not just as a personal accomplishment, but a reflection of the immense support she has received at Mount Holyoke. "More than anything," she says, "consider today a celebration of yourselves."

All human experience is education in some sense, and a liberal arts education does not exclude the sorts of learning that derive directly from the process of living itself. It differs from other varieties of education, however, because it places at its center the content of humane learning and the spirit of systematic, disinterested inquiry.

Its ultimate subject is humanity: the works, the acts of human beings. It is therefore, first, an education in what we are and have been, and in the worlds we inhabit and have created: the worlds of thought and art, the social and physical worlds. It is, further, an education in the means of exploring those worlds and of creating new ones. Beyond this, it is an education that is evaluative, not merely factual and descriptive: it emphasizes the necessity of critical judgment, of respect for the finest in human achievement, together with the belief that a sense of the finest carries with it a capacity and even an imperative to live and act according to its demands.

The college is ideally a society of students and faculty collectively and consciously committed to these convictions: to discovering, exploring, and upholding them. It is a collegium, a fellowship, with a proud but not prideful sense of its common purpose and of the values that govern its daily life. It brings together those who are serious but not solemn about learning, and humble but not hopeless before the complexity of knowledge: those who want to know what is to be known. It is a fellowship whose members are gentle of spirit and tolerant of human failing, but maintain unrelenting hostility toward any destruction of human dignity.

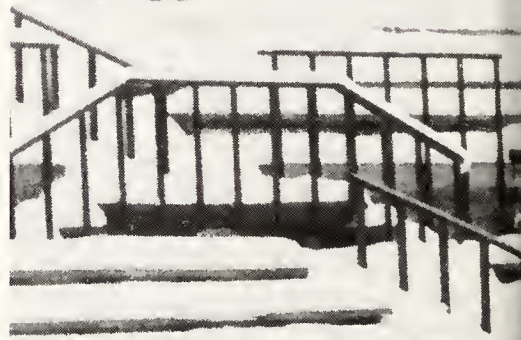

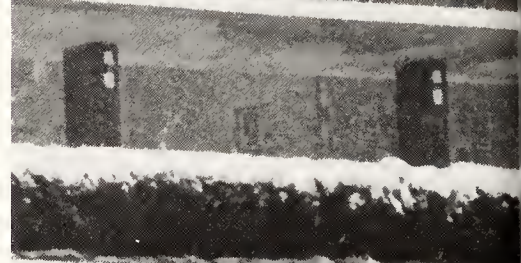

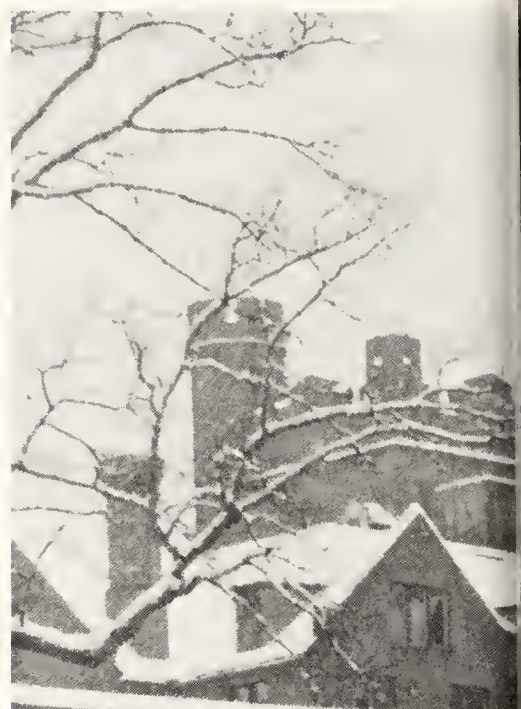

Such a college tries to encourage in all its members and in all their modes of endeavor not only a respect but a zest for truth and excellence. It encourages the capacity to admire and pursue excellence with intensity but without arrogance, and with some compassion for all who encounter the obstinacy of truth.

As a society of those who have come together for the sake of learning, the faculty and students profess and study those special arts of mind and spirit that they believe can free people — at least from ignorance, and perhaps from other poverties. The liberal arts are the arts of thought, perception, and judgment, the arts that foster humanity and civility of spirit, and it is these arts that Mount Holyoke places at the center of its life.

— from a report prepared by The Faculty Study Committee on the Principles of the College.

Convocation is a long-standing tradition at Mount Holyoke College. Although the ceremony was first called "Convocation" in 1933, the tradition began in 1931. For the first time, faculty and staff, dressed in "full academic regalia," attended a service conducted by Mary E. Woolley, establishing a new tradition at Mount Holyoke College.

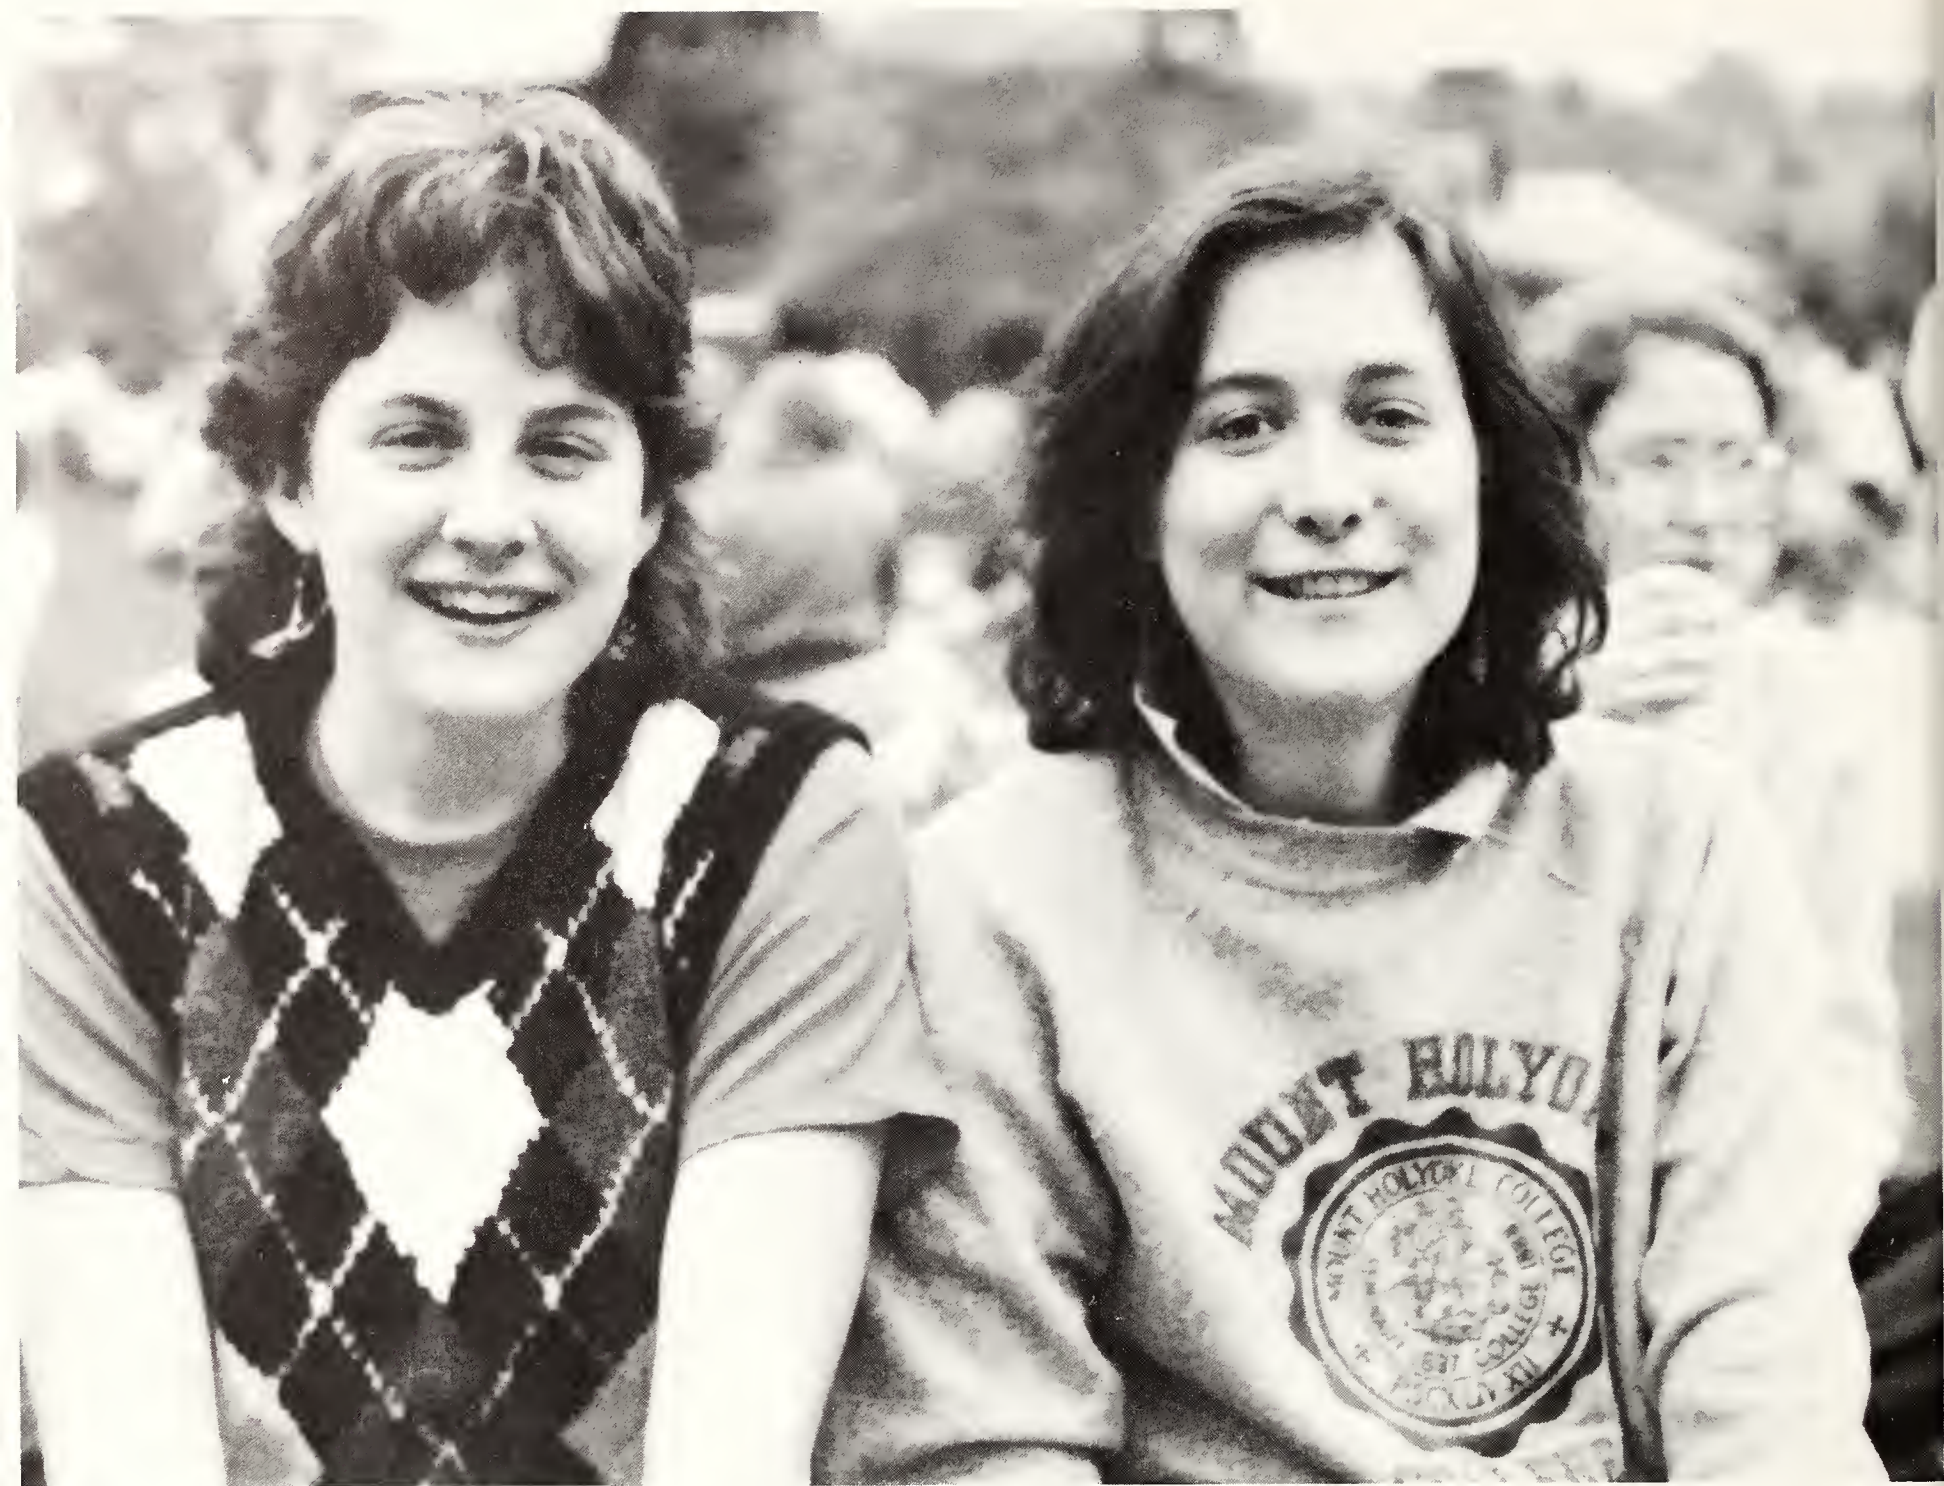

In her 1984 Convocation address, President Kennan offered advice on coping with the "inferno" of modern society. She quoted from Marco Polo's Invisible Cities:

There are two ways to escape suffering it. The first is easy for many: accept the inferno and become such a part of it that you can no longer see it. The second is risky and demands constant vigilance and apprehension; seek and learn to recognize who and what, in the midst of the inferno. Then make them endure . . .

What will endure in the turmoil of our society, and what must we prevent from becoming an integral part of that turmoil? There are many issues which must be considered. For example, the arms race, abortion and wide-spread poverty.

In order to make that which is not part of the "inferno" a viable part of our society, we must not only look forward, but also keep an eye on the events of the past. At the time Convocation was established, the class of 1931 was dealing with the uncertainty of The Great Depression. By examining the problems of previous generations of Mount Holyoke women, we will find alternative ways of dealing with our own "inferno."

WITH THEIR MINDS . . .

ADMINISTRATION

"The measure of these four years, first of all, lies in the shape of your intellectual life. It exists now in each of you. It will be the critical scale of your lives, a measure you, in turn, bring to bear on your experiences, a measure by which you train and shape them for yourselves and for others in your company. By virtue of your own critical dimensions, you will affect the world and leave it changed."

"There is something at ease about teaching in the greenhouse. The heater clanks and spews out too much heat or too little — never enough, but conversations about the Civil War, or civility, or whatever it is we get to, works as well as the heat machine works poorly. Maybe it's the old tongue-and-groove walls that make the difference, or perhaps it's the neighborhood. Mount Holyoke is a great place to teach, and for me, the greatest place for that teaching is next door to Johnny Walker and all of his ceaselessly renewing plants."

"Mount Holyoke College certainly is an institution that prepares young women for the future and gives to them the kind of strength and poise necessary for their total growth. It is often said that we should not have separate institutions for women, but in order for a woman to develop her fullest potential in America, it becomes necessary for attention to be given to her entire personality. It is only in an educational setting that caters to the unique and specific needs of the female student that she is able to develop all the aspects of her total personality and thus become an individual who is better prepared to cope with real life in the outside world and become a leader in the future."

First black woman to seek the Presidency

"On arrival at Mount Holyoke, I immediately felt immersed in the institution. I sensed a feeling of instant community and wanted to contribute to its well-being and success. In particular, I am concerned that the physical education program continues to be an important component of the broad base a liberal arts education provides. Since my early months at Mount Holyoke, I have been impressed with its students. They are undoubtedly young women of ability, intellectual promise and motivation.

Although a pivotal concern of the college is with individual development, some of my exalted moments have occurred on the periphery of the moving force of students that helped effectuate the reality of the new Sports Complex.

My experiences with students have always been positive at Mount Holyoke, and I think of myself not only as a teacher, coach and administrator, but equally important as a friend, supporter, listener and resource person. I marvel at the changes in students from freshman to senior year and enjoy showing the freshman picture book to graduating seniors."

WITH THEIR ENDEAVORS.

Action South Africa

Action South Africa is an organization on campus concerned with the situation in South Africa today. They have two major purposes 1. — to educate the campus about the effect of Apartheid in South Africa; 2. — to encourage the divestment of Mount Holyoke stock from U.S. Banks and Corporations that operate and do business in South Africa.

Armenian Club

The purpose of the Mount Holyoke Armenian Club is to bring together the Armenians of the Mount Holyoke community. Through our activities, we hope to promote awareness of the Armenian culture on campus and in the Five-College area. Past activities have included lectures on Armenian architecture and the Armenian genocide, movies, fundraisers and participation in the Festival of Diversity.

Asian Student Association

The Asian Student Association engroups Asians who come to Mount Holyoke from all over the world, as well as those with an interest in Asia. The organization is concerned with educating the campus, sponsoring a variety of activities that involve political, social and cultural aspects of the Asian and Asian-American people. Such events include films, lectures, the annual food festival, conferences and workshops.

Association of Pan African Unity

APAU serves to unify Black Americans, Africans and Caribbean Africans and to inform others about Black culture.

Athletic Recreation Association

The Athletic Recreation Association (A.R.A.) sponsors intramural sports events on campus, in which all students and staff may participate. The philosophy of the program is to provide a variety of activities that promote physical fitness, sportsmanship and cooperation in an atmosphere of fun and friendly competition. The program is coordinated by a member of the Physical Education Department and run by an executive board of students who are elected annually. The opening of the new facilities at Kendall Hall made possible a greater variety of activities, including squash, volleyball, European handball and indoor soccer.

Bellatrix

Bellatrix: The Science Fiction/Fantasy Club of Mount Holyoke College. Home of the M. Ghizberta Hawkwood Memorial Floating Science Fiction Library, the U.S.S.R. Retreat, the Vile Endeavor, refugee aliens, the disappearing Hat, and Great Science Fiction Convention trek. Members not present are: a) where no woman has gone before, b) caught in a time warp, or c) dematerialized.

Baha'i Association

The Baha'i Association accomadates the spiritual, intellectual and social interests of Mount Holyoke College members of the Baha'i faith.

Blue Key

Blue Key brings the vibrant world of Mount Holyoke into focus for prospective students. Information and insights not found in the pages of the college catalog or in Barron's Guide to Colleges are supplied by the Blue Key Guides. This year, Blue Key boasted nearly 150 members, making it one of the largest volunteer campus guiding organizations in the nation.

By sitting in the admissions office living room and chatting with prospective students and their parents, the guides provide a service unique to Mount Holyoke. Blue Key Guides also participate in Bring a Daughter Day and Spring Open House and offer the opportunity for a prospective student to stay overnight in a dormitory. These activities are coordinated by a five-member steering committee, pictured right.

Campus Program Council

Campus Program Council is primarily responsible for the organization and execution of Mount Holyoke's Fall, Winter and Spring Weekends. CPC also offers a range of alternate activities for the MHC community. The organization initiated Wooley's and has sponsored bus trips to Boston theatres, the Head of the Charles, L.L. Bean and West Point Academy. CPC hopes to continue to be a vital, energetic and necessary student organization in years to come.

Children's Companionship Program

The Children's Companionship Program is a non-profit program for abused and neglected children in the Holyoke area. Mount Holyoke students serve as big sisters to children referred to the program through the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Each student is the companion of one child for the entire year and through her weekly visits, mutual bonds of affection and attachment are formed.

Christian Fellowship

The Mount Holyoke Christian Fellowship is an interdenominational group of Christian students, faculty and staff. Although affiliated with an international organization of Christian Fellowships, the MHC chapter is entirely student-run. The Fellowship reaches across campus through small group Bible studies and investigative Bible studies, both of which prove to be exciting and stimulating.

The Christian Fellowship holds weekly meetings that include singing, sharing and discussions. Many times, a guest speaker from off-campus may address issues facing Christian students or discuss an aspect of Christianity. Other activities include monthly five-college Christian Fellowship group meetings, various New England and nation-wide conferences, dorm talks, book tables and college Lives, a gathering of MHC students to hear a perspective on a relevant topic such as relationships or success.

1985 Class Officers

The class of '85 is alive and well. We are one of the most spirited classes yet at Mount Holyoke College. Our Junior Show was both infamous and awesome!! We may be leaving, but South Hadley has not seen the last of our class! We will return as alums!

1986 Class Officers

Friends, Yokes, fellow students, the nebulous class of 1986 proudly presents the activities they successfully completed this year: Parents' Weekend, Junior Show, Big/Little Sister program, ushers for Founder's Day, Commencement, the organ dedication and the sale of Mount Holyoke bottle openers and key chains.

1987 Class Officers

The Sophomore class has been busy this year. During the Fall semester, they threw a successful "Sophomore Septemberfest" party, elfed 'schmen in October, and held a "Sophomore Slump" party in November. December brought the fourteenth annual Peddler's Fair. Spring semester was highlighted by a semi-formal.

1988 Class Officers

The Class of 1988 had a fun and successful year. The freshman class became involved in Mount Holyoke life through participation in various social, academic and athletic events.

College Democrats

The Mount Holyoke College Democrats consist of approximately 120 students interested in learning about and supporting the Democratic party on both local and national levels. Particularly during the campaign season, the group works closely with the Freeze Voter Campaign, the South Hadley Democrats and the Democratic organizations of the other colleges in the area.

College Republicans

The College Republicans work to promote issues and ideas facing the Republican community, both on and off-campus. They were very active during this year's election campaign.

Cornerstone

Cornerstone is a small, four-part harmony acappella singing group. As an off-shoot of the Christian Fellowship, Cornerstone involves twelve women from various denominations. They perform contemporary music, Gospel and occasionally popular hymns both on and off-campus.

Day Students

The Day Student Organization is designed to meet the needs of off-campus students. It acts as a liaison between day students, dorm residents and the administration. The group participates in social activities, ARA sports and many other aspects of student life.

Debate Society

The Debate Society is a relatively new student-run organization. We travel to various colleges to debate current issues.

Film Society

"Flick Chicks"

The Film Society brings movies to campus every Tuesday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Glee Club

The Mount Holyoke Glee Club, directed by associate professor Catherine Melhorn, consists of approximately ninety members from the sophomore, junior and senior classes. During the first semester, the Glee Club participated in the Fall Convocation, the Parents' Weekend Variety Show and several services in Abbey Chapel. In November, the University of Virginia Glee Club joined MHC for an impressive and memorable concert which featured Handel's Dettingen Te Deum. The annual Vespers concert, performed with the Amherst Glee Club, a concert with the five-college orchestra, and another concert during a Southern tour over Spring break highlighted the 1984-1985 year for the MHC Glee Club.

Francis Perkins Scholar's Association

This organization provides a support group for the Francis Perkins (continuing education) students, and establishes a liaison with the rest of the student body.

Winter Term Committee

The Winter Term Committee, comprised of students and faculty, coordinates courses, lectures and activities for the month of January.

Interfaith Council

The Interfaith Council is an organization comprised of the heads of the various religious groups on campus. The members work closely with the staff of Eliot House to promote various campus activities such as films, discussions, workshops and an understanding between the religious organizations. Their goal is to increase spiritual awareness on the Mount Holyoke campus.

International Club

The International Club, chaired by Brenda Nottingham, is a cultural organization in which students share their ideas and knowledge about customs and lifestyles of countries abroad. The club is open to international and American students in the college community. All Foreign Fellows who attend MHC for only one year are also welcome. It is an excellent opportunity for all to exchange views and broaden their horizons. Events have included the annual Festival of Diversity, panel discussions, host family programs, slide shows, lectures and a conference on "International Women Students and Home Country Employment."

International Newsletter

The International Newsletter provides a vehicle for self and community education on foreign affairs.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club is a campus organization which promotes awareness of international affairs on political, economic, and social levels. Its activities include sponsorship of the annual Student Conference on International Affairs, participation in Model United Nations Conferences, hosting guest speakers, conducting crisis simulations, fundraisers and discussions about contemporary international affairs. This past year, they also sponsored the OXFAM Fast for a World Harvest.

Islamic Cultural Alliance

The Islamic Cultural Alliance is a non-sectarian, politically unbiased organization that is open to the entire Mount Holyoke Community. We are an organization that is trying to spread awareness on this campus concerning Islam and the various ways it influences all aspects of life. Among issues under consideration are women's rights, arts, literature and the basic tenants of Islam. We also discuss political issues facing the Islamic world today.

Jewish Student Union

The Jewish Student Union promotes Jewish unity through a variety of religious, educational and social activities. Throughout the year, the organization sponsored Sabbath services and dinners, classes on Jewish faith and practice, lectures and films for the entire campus.

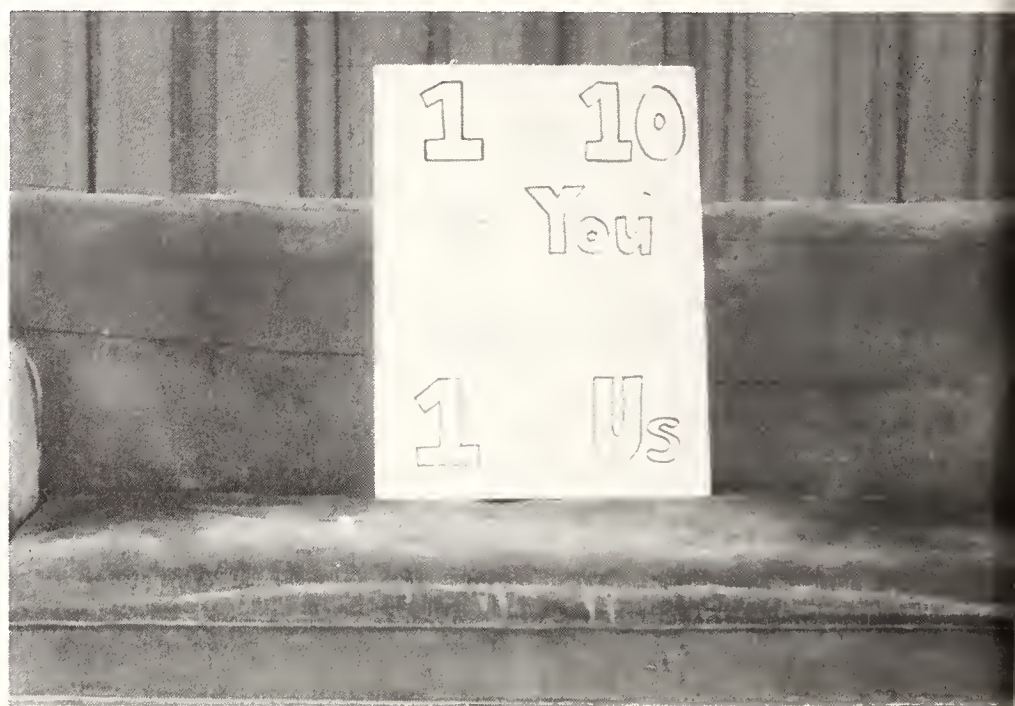

Leeds Veterans Program

The Leeds Veteran Group is a student group which works with patients in the V.A. Hospital as a community service.

Lesbian Alliance

The Lesbian Alliance serves as a support group, a research center and an organizer of alternate events for the lesbian community.

Llamarada

The Llamarada is the student-produced yearbook. With a staff of over forty members, we have worked hard this year to establish a constructive morale, overcome budget deficits, and develop guidelines for future editors. Most of all, we have been pleased to give back to Mount Holyoke a little of what it has given to us.

Mass PIRG

The Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group is a Ralph Nader inspired organization encouraging public safety through protection of the environment.

MHC Law Society

The Law Society has a dual purpose: to investigate current legal issues and to present this information to the community at large; and to be a complete source of information for those students who are interested in pre-law studies and in law school.

The Law Society sponsors speakers, informal discussions on law schools during the semester and a moot trial court during Winter term. This year the moot court addressed a criminal case involving rape and racism.

MHC Marching Band

The Mount Holyoke Marching Band is celebrating its third year of providing first-rate musical accompaniment to campus festivities. Sponsored by Pro Musica, the Marching Band is raising money to buy musical equipment.

Under the organization and direction of Kris Renn '86, these musicians, clad in royal blue sweatshirts, have won awards as the Best Musical Unit in four consecutive parades. They have nobly performed in two Homecoming Game half-time shows and the "Hooray for Holly" parade.

Mount Holyoke News

The Mount Holyoke News is the weekly, student-run campus newspaper. Its purpose is twofold; to report events and issues which are pertinent to the campus, and to provide a journalistic learning experience for students which is not offered in the existing college curriculum.

Newman Association

The Newman Association is the Catholic student affiliation on campus. The association sponsors bi-monthly meetings, which vary from Bible meetings to prayer readings and rap sessions. Speakers are invited to address such topics as women and the Church and Covenant House in New York City. We also sponsor various panel discussions and social service programs. Members continue to volunteer at homes and shelters.

Pangynaskeia Planning Committee

Pangynaskeia is an annual MHC celebration of women. It kicks-off Spring Weekend in celebration of Mount Holyoke College; its past, present and future. An important event of the day, along with the parade and amphitheatre ceremony, is the presentation of the Ella T. Grasso Pangynaskeia Award. The award honors a woman who embodies the ideals of Mount Holyoke and serves as an important role model in our society. In addition, a community award is given to a member of the MHC faculty, staff or administration who serves as an immediate reminder of the excellence, significance and courage of the Mount Holyoke woman.

Pegasus

The members of Pegasus, Mount Holyoke's student art and literary magazine, include four editors, a business manager and the members of the art, poetry and prose boards. Creative works are compiled in bi-annual issues.

Philosophy Club

The Philosophy Club is a group interested in interesting students. The club contributes to campus events, as well as bringing philosophers to campus such as John Irving and Theresa de Lauretis. They also hold discussions with local and up-and-coming philosophers in more casual and intimate settings. Currently, the Philosophy Club is involved in the curriculum review of the Philosophy Department. Grab a navel or a lightbulb, come and contemplate with us. Sublimate!

Progressive Student Alliance

The Progressive Student Alliance is an educational and action group which serves to build concerned coalitions with Valley communities dealing with progressive issues.

Rathskellar

The Rathskellar sponsors the live entertainment for MHC's weekly coffee house.

Shades of Expression

Shades of Expression is the campus performing arts, dance and theatre company.

South City Tutorial

The Hamilton Learning Center is a community service organization in Holyoke geared to helping children with learning disabilities. The Mount Holyoke students involved in the program volunteer an hour of their time per week to tutor. The children involved range from first grade to highschool and the subjects studied include mathematics, foreign languages, sciences and humanities.

Student Business Association

The Student Business Association provides an arena in which women can pursue and exercise their interests in business.

Third World Pre-Health Organization

The Third World Pre-Health Organization encourages and supports Third World students interested in health careers.

Student Government Association

The Student Government Association is an independent organization to which all students may belong. SGA appoints and elects students to serve on trustee and faculty committees. The association also serves as the voice of the students to the administration.

V'8's

The V-8's made their first debut in the Junior Show of 1942, and later brought their music to Westover Airforce Base, providing entertainment to soldiers during war time. For over 40 years, the group has provided unique entertainment for their own and nearby college communities. The number of members has fluctuated over the years; scheduled concerts now include all corners of New England, and concert dress is no longer formal evening wear. But what has transcended the years is a high standard of musical performance and the constant dedication that has kept the group together. The V-8's of 1984-1985 take pride in perpetuating a musical Mount Holyoke tradition!

Voices of Faith

Voices of Faith is a gospel/vocal ensemble which explores and preserves the sacred musical tradition of Black Americans.

WMHC

WMHC-FM is Mount Holyoke College's student-run radio station. It is the oldest college station managed by women. WMHC has approximately 130 members, including disc jockeys, air personalities, news anchorwomen and various staff members. WMHC has been reaching out in stereophonic sound to the surrounding communities, as well as the students on campus, continuing its reputation as an information and entertainment station.

Water Polo

The MHC Water Polo club is a student-organized and student-run sport. Practices are a few times a week during the fall and spring. This fall, we competed against Williams and Trinity, and scrimmaged amongst ourselves on Parent's Weekend. Last spring, we played in tournaments at Brown and MIT and had a few matches at UMass. This year, we are planning a more active schedule. We also hope to host a tournament in the new pool.

The Women's Center

The Women's Center, Mount Holyoke's feminist organization, serves as a resource center which makes information on women's issues available to the campus. It is both a place for women to share ideas and socialize and a political forum working to make change for the advantage of today's society.

La Unidad

La Unidad is a support group for Latin American Women.

Women Against Sexual Harassment

W.A.S.H. offers peer counseling and education. We are students trained to counsel survivors of sexual harassment and rape. The group offers workshops to encourage public awareness about all forms of sexual harassment.

WITH THEIR BODIES . . .

SOCCER

On August 24, 1984, the returning members of the Mount Holyoke soccer team landed in England for what resulted in two exciting weeks of sightseeing and exhibition games. The team returned to the U.S.A. with skills learned at the Bobby Charleton Soccer camp. The new and improved techniques were used throughout their victorious season.

Although the Lyons did not win an official title, several outstanding feats were accomplished, including two victories over arch-rival Smith College. Mount Holyoke's impressive 12-4-0 record, including NIAC tournament play, boasts forty-five goals against their competitors. The Lyons' attack could not be thwarted, as they tallied ten straight victories.

The team would like to thank coach Les Poolman, captains Ellen Greenberg, Kim Miller and Cynthia Reed, manager Cindy Coon, and trainer Ellen Perella for their invaluable services throughout this memorable season.

FIELD HOCKEY

The Mount Holyoke Field Hockey team entered the 1984 season with an experienced backfield and aggressive, quick offense. The team used extreme poise and perseverance to post a successful 10-6 season record. Regular season play was highlighted by an exciting double overtime 4-3 win over Wesleyan, and an intense win at the Bryn Mawr Seven Sister Tournament. The stickers handily defeated Wellesley and Bryn Mawr on the opening day of the tournament to pace their way for the big win. After a Saturday night feast of Jim's Steaks and ice cream, Mount Holyoke withstood mounting pressure to beat Vassar 5-0. We snatched the title away from our arch rival, Smith College.

The talents of seniors Hope Ashton, Kelly Hill, Carole Lester, Jane Lester, Laura McClain and Jen Warburton will definitely be missed.

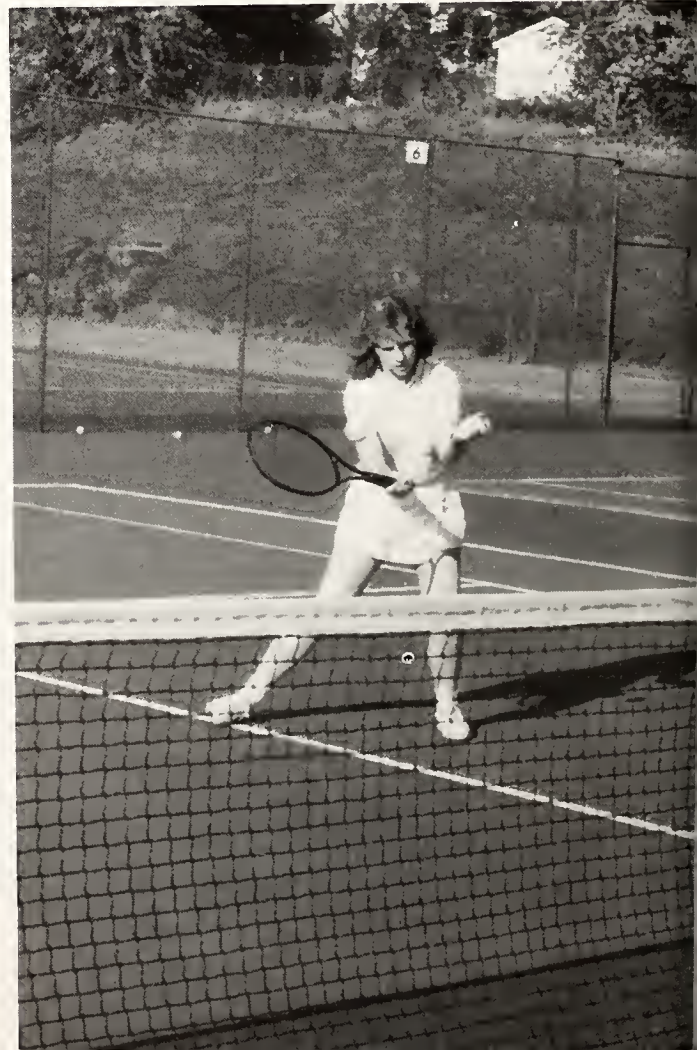

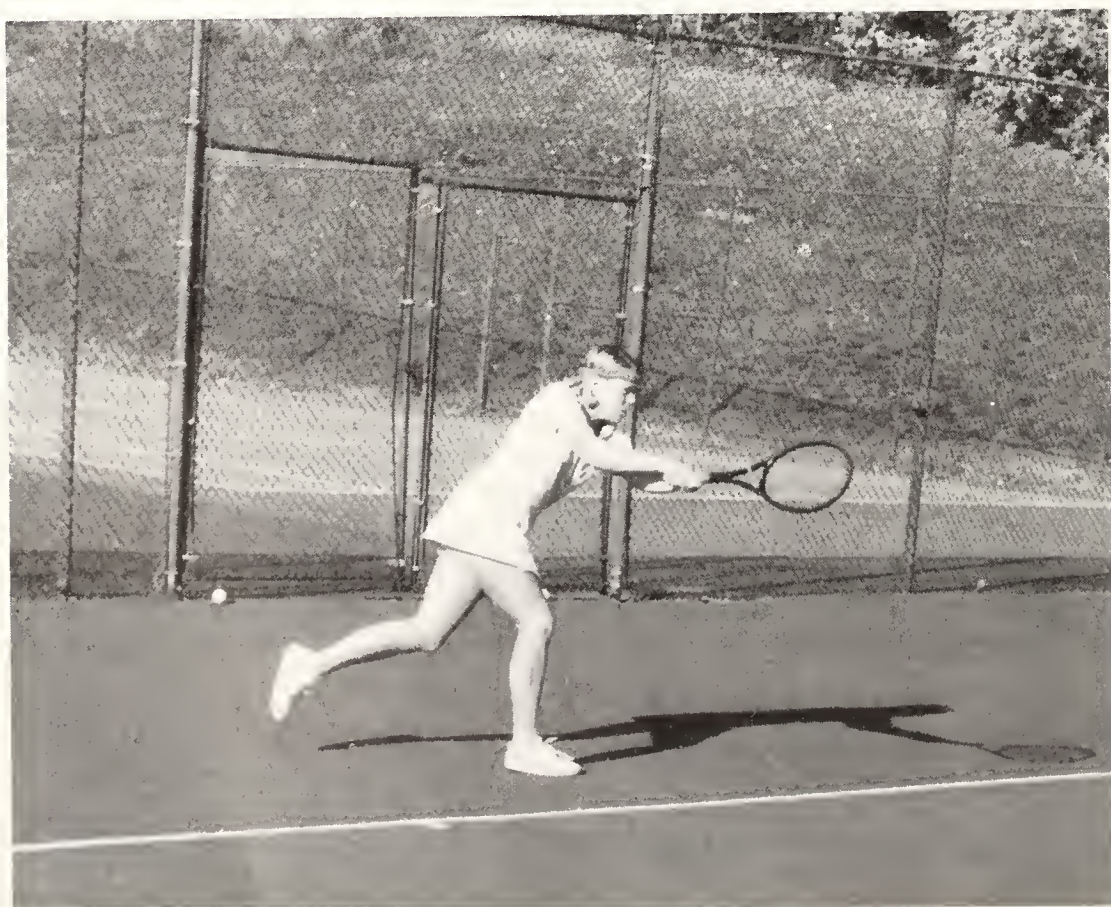

J.V. FIELD HOCKEY

The J.V. Field Hockey team began its season with many new players. The season opened strongly with a win against Skidmore. The Lyons faced stiffer competition and suffered a series of losses throughout the season. However, they did not get discouraged and held together to play their best game against Connecticut College. With a 3-3 tie, the team ended the season on a good note. The quickness and aggressive scoring of senior Susi Sturzenegger will be missed.

TENNIS

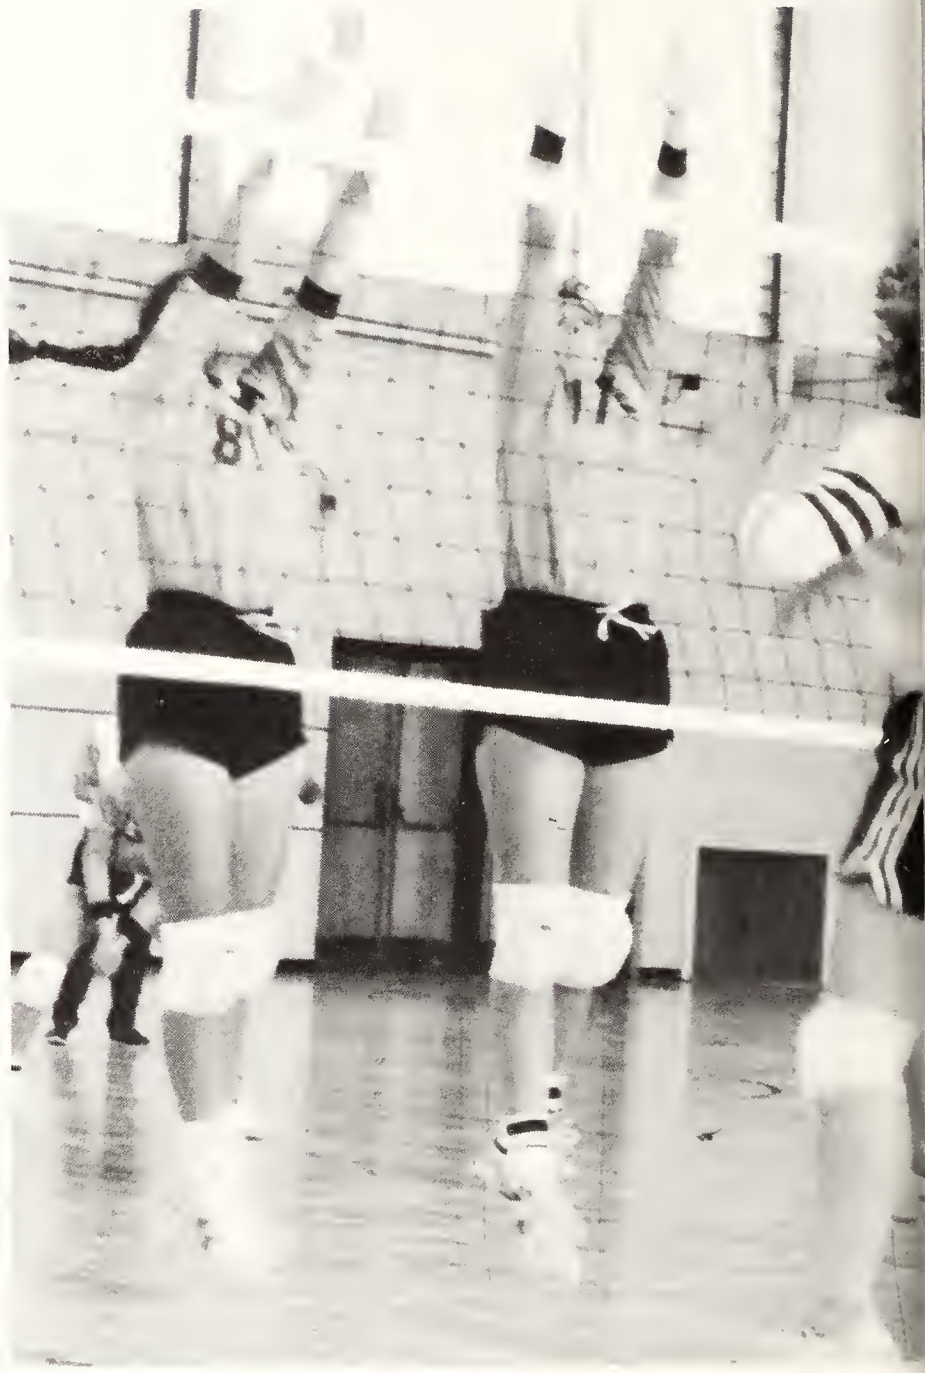

The Mount Holyoke tennis team had a very busy and competitive season this fall. Under the direction of coach Sharon Crow, the team, composed of eight freshmen, seven sophomores and one junior, showed much effort and enthusiasm, even though their record may not reflect their hard work. In the MHC hosted tournament, the players put forth their maximum strength. Allison Wien and Karen Beeman were commended for their talent as a doubles team and Jaqueline Novos and Carolyn Stringer played impressive singles. With the advantage of six new indoor courts, the team is looking forward to stronger and better seasons.

VOLLEYBALL

Thus passes another season in the scary tradition of MHC's volleyball. The returning players from last year's squad welcomed the new presence of a number of players; freshpersons Ann (No E!) Wilcox; Jenny "Lookin' good, Blue" Morgan, Lisa Krawczy (how do you pronounce that?); sophomore Charlotte "I'm from Missouri, can you tell?" Overby; junior Laura "Why can't I play in my cast?" McAlister; and senior Mary "Penny, you you want me in the front row?!" LeClere.

Returning members looked better than ever; Mean Heidi Landry perfected her quick-hit-and-grunt technique, Kelly Boldy kept the audience in great suspense as she called the ball out and everyone waited to see how far within the court it actually fell, and Jeanne Fritch was having the best season of her career, if her mood was any indication.

All of the above mentioned underclasswomen were moved to tears at the passing of the MHCVB dynasty — seniors Catherine Snyder and Beth Fishman. In honor of these Olympic-quality athletes, the volleyball team is permanently deflating all Mikasas and is debating whether or not to compete next year.

This season, the team defended its title successfully at the Seven Sisters tournament and won the NIAC championship. MHC won a berth in the NCAA National tournament for the third consecutive year and lost to ECSU for the second consecutive year.

BASKETBALL

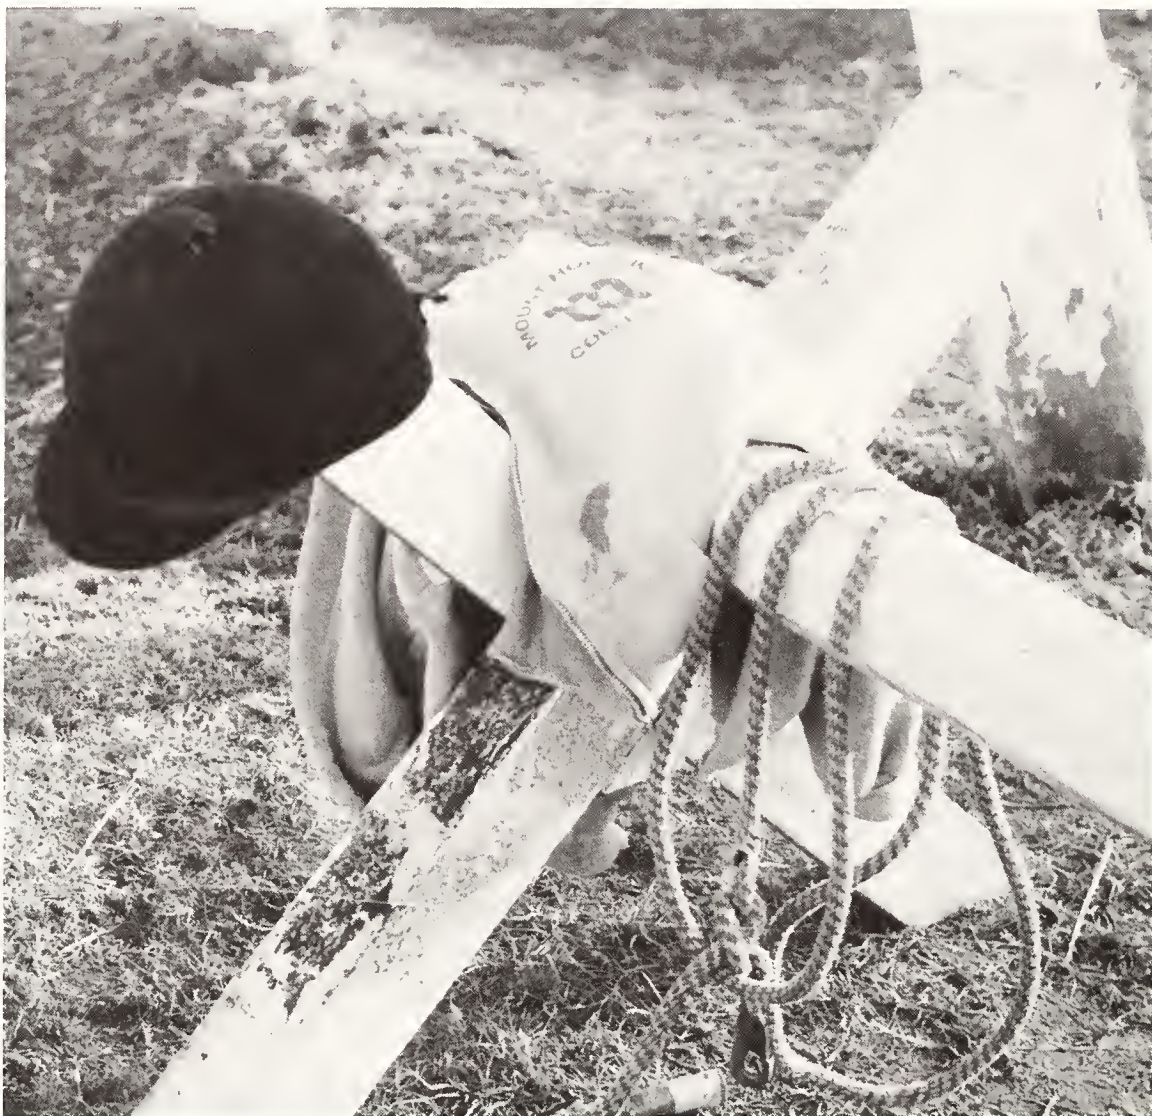

The Mount Holyoke Basketball team faced the 1984-85 season with an experienced squad, which included eight returning veterans. Senior All-American Tricia Ginley helped the team match their impressive last season's mark of 21 wins and 3 losses. Talented newcomers rounded out the 12-woman squad and provided the team with great potential. With a new coach and new offensive and defensive strategies, the team made adjustments in their early season play, but their perseverance and hard work has been worthwhile.

RIDING

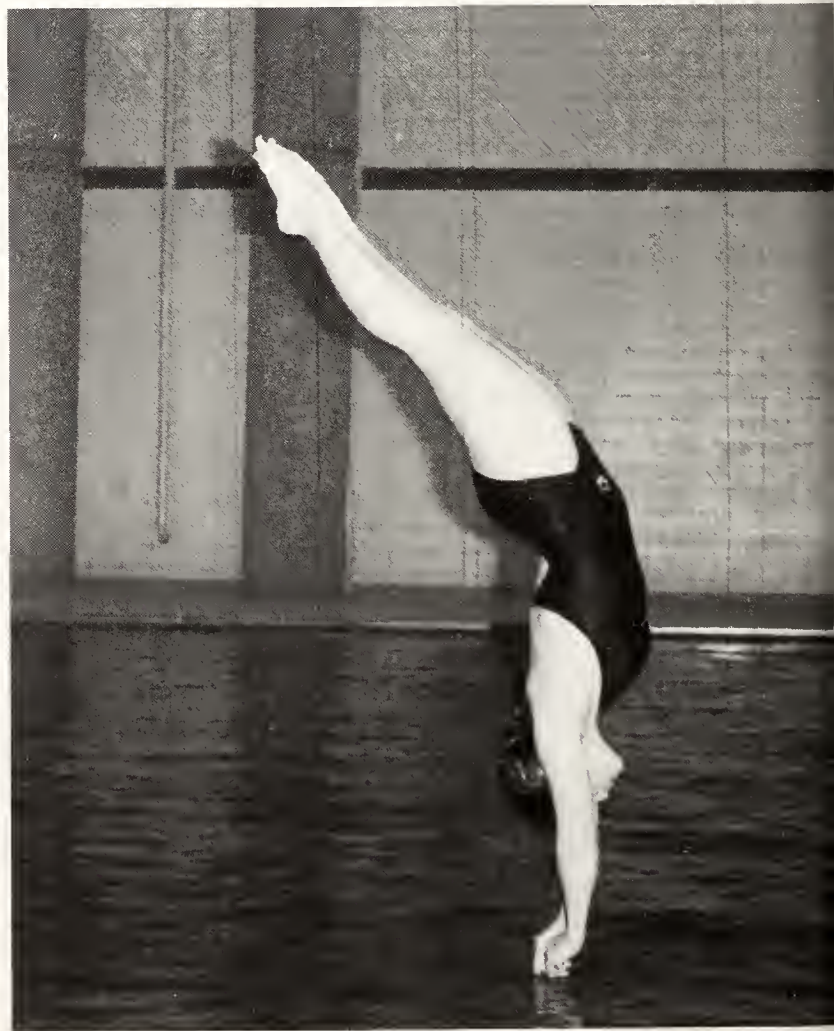

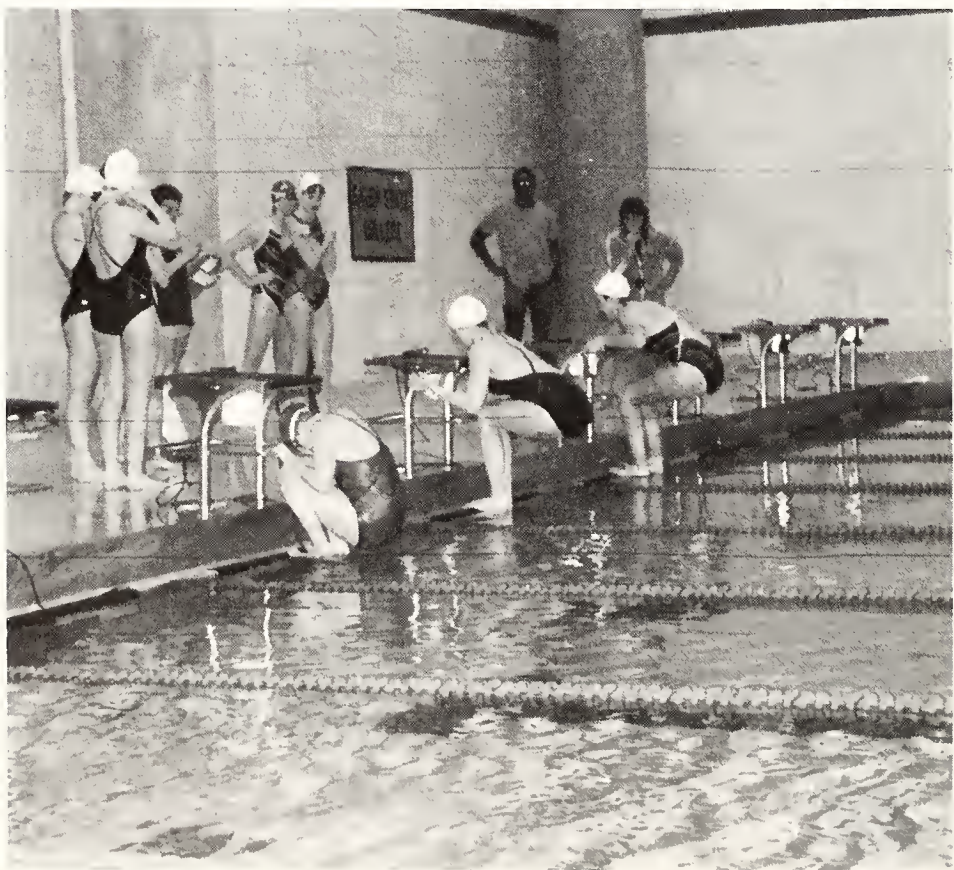

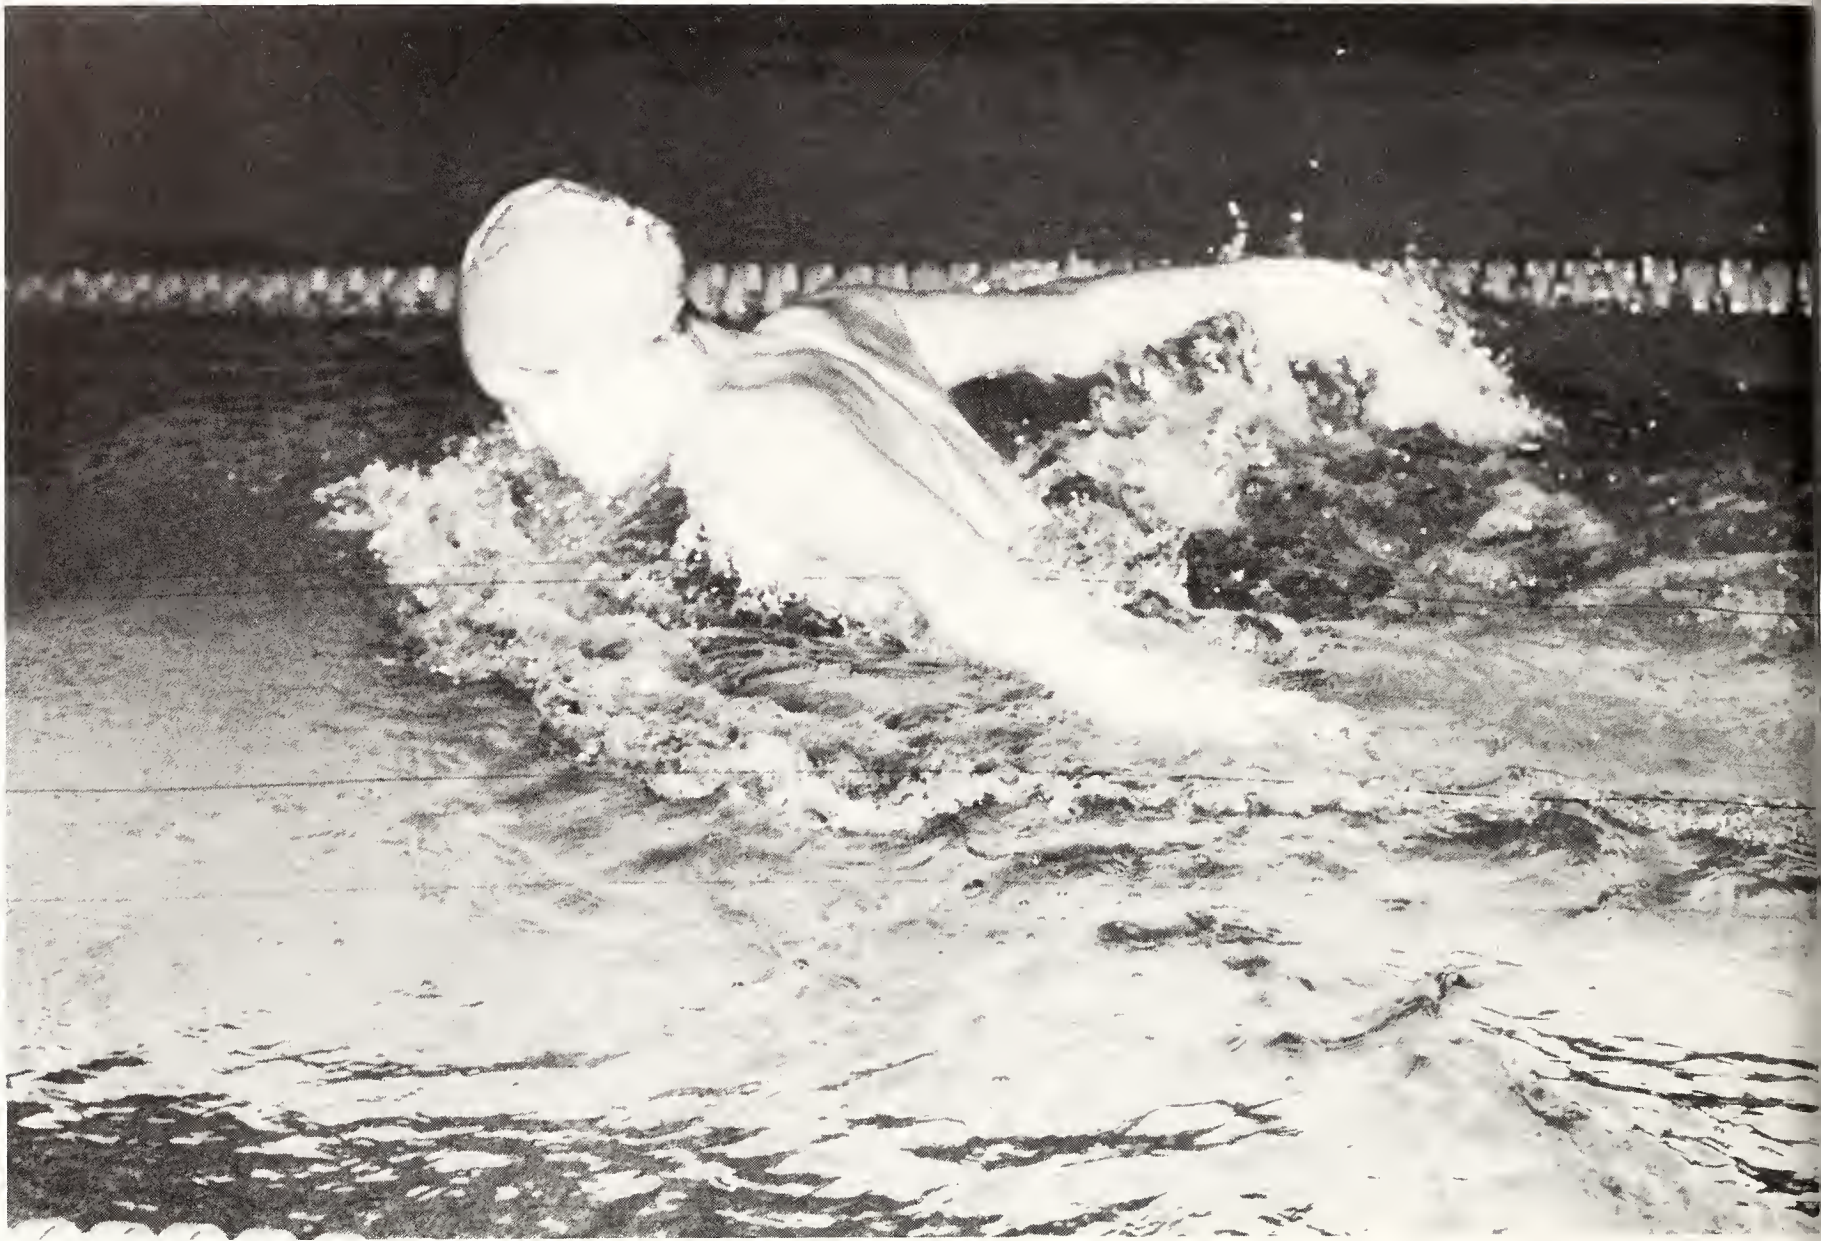

The Mount Holyoke Riding team galloped to a strong third place regional standing for the fall season. The season was highlighted by defeating fourteen other schools to win the High Point College Award at the University of Connecticut. It was the first time in three years that U. Conn. had been defeated.

Currently, Mount Holyoke has qualified several riders for the regional competition in May. The competitors include Emi Eldridge '85, Rose Stickle '85, Helen Achilles '85, Elizabeth Motz '85, Katy Plum '86, Sarah Coward '86, Sue Mutter '86, Dawn Faucher '87, Lisa Richter '87, Kris Hamre '87 and Pam Dubois '87. Coach Carol "C.J." Cahill predicts that more Mount Holyoke riders will qualify for the meet and that we will be prepared to defend our regional championship title.

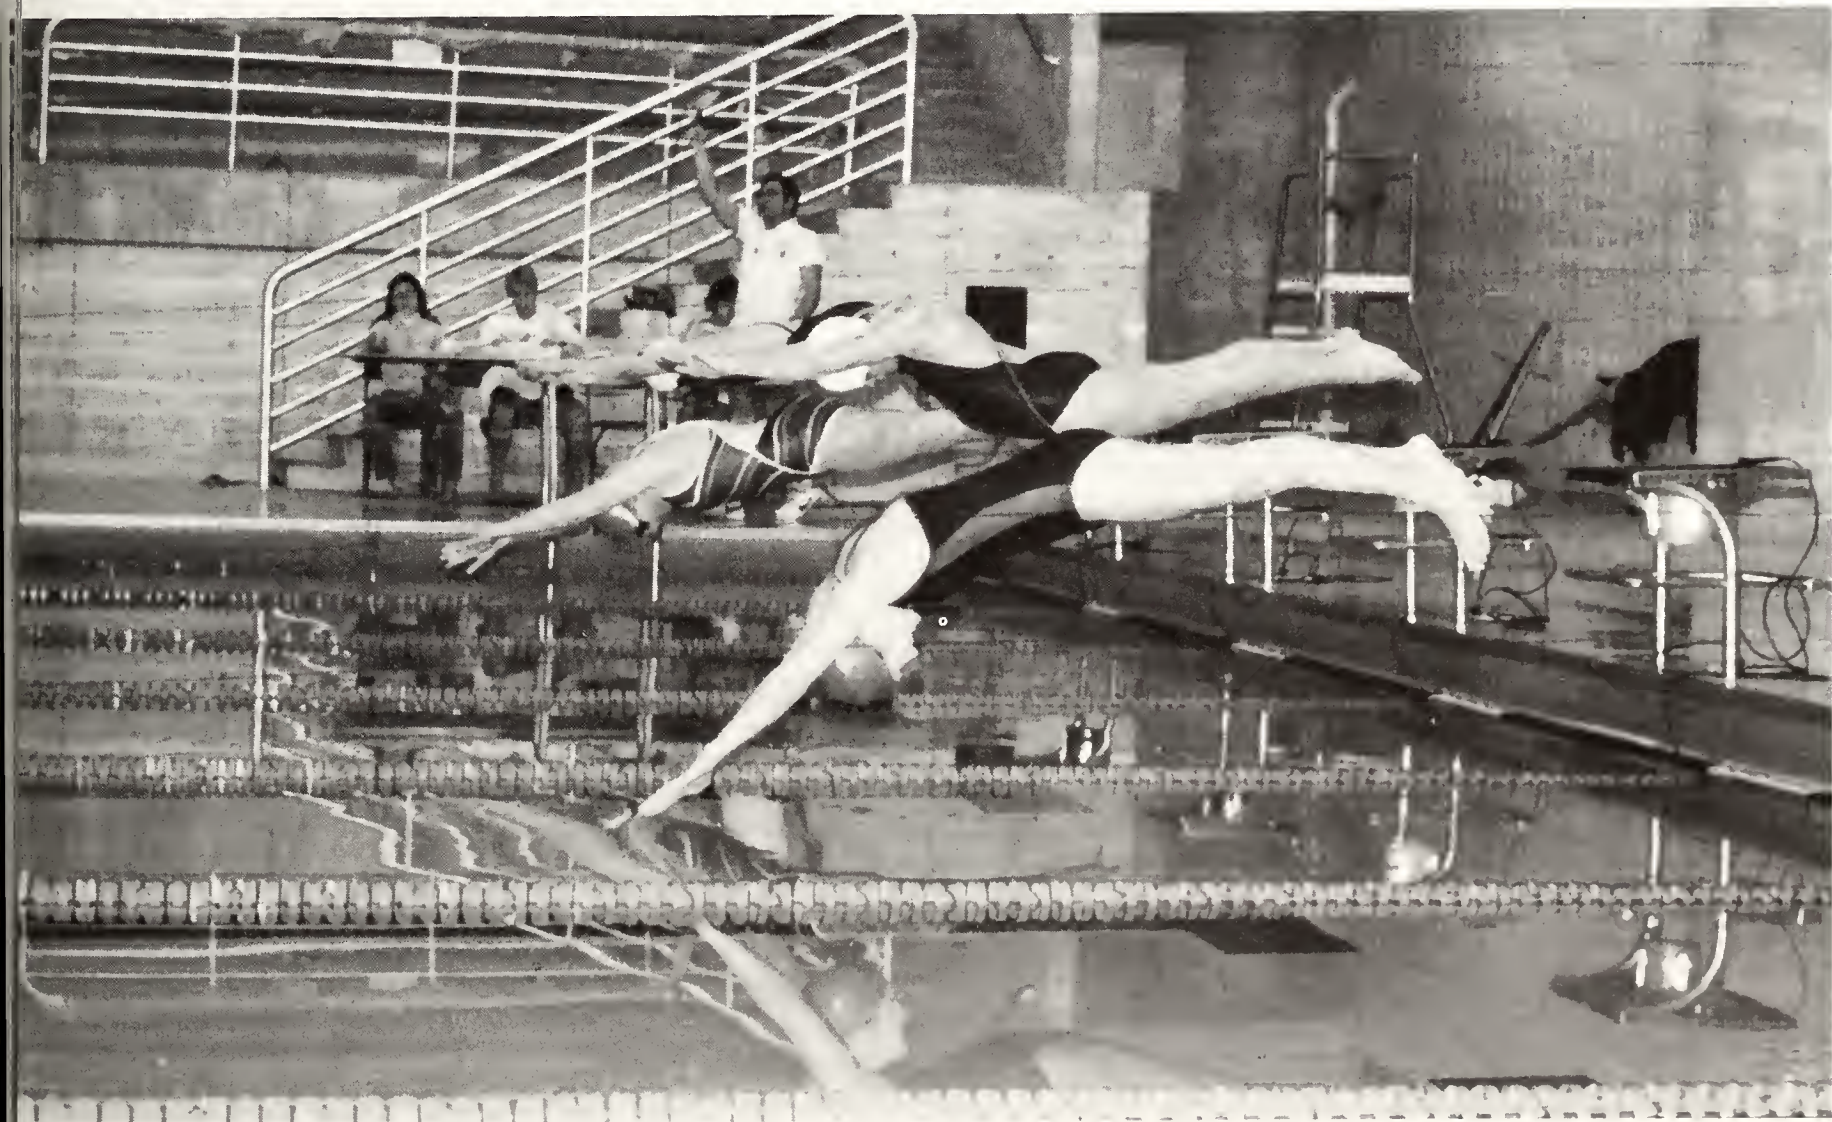

Swimming

Under the direction of coach Cathy "Bucky" Buchanan, the 1984-85 swimming and diving team was privileged to compete in the recently constructed swimming and diving pools. Senior co-captains Ann "party naked" Horgan and Kay Barab, seniors Jenn Yorzyk, Robin Perlmutter and Barby Stone led the well-rounded, talented team.

CREW

The Mount Holyoke crew "Bullies" competed successfully in several races this fall. The Varsity 8, J.V. 8, Lightweight 4 and Novice A and B boats all made it to the finals at the 10th Anniversary Mount Holyoke Women's Regatta. For the first time, the Varsity 8 came in first, with plenty of "open water."

Novice A placed first and Novice B placed third in the Trinity Halloween Regatta, a terrific accomplishment for the newer members of the team.

The Big Bullies, along with coach and Olympiad Holly Metcalf, competed in the championship 8, Club 8 and Lightweight 4 races at the Head of the Charles Regatta. The Novi got their taste of the Boston waters at the Foot of the Charles Regatta in November. The Varsity Lightweight 4 placed third and Tubweight 4 landed in the top twenty.

As they say, "there's nothing to fear but fear itself and Mount Holyoke Crew!"

The flurry of activity surrounding Kendall Hall this fall included a group of new athletes training furiously to represent Mount Holyoke on the first intercollegiate Cross Country team. The young team consisted of one senior, three juniors and five freshmen.

Mike Hyer coached his runners through a very competitive season. The varsity team returned from the Coast Guard Academy with a win over Central Connecticut College. Lisa Siciliano '88 made an excellent showing, placing fifth overall. MHC runners traveled to Columbia to compete in the Seven Sister Tournament. They ran valiantly and gained victories over Vassar and Bryn Mawr. The highlight of the season came when the team packed up and traveled to Boston for the New England Women's Cross Country Championship. Thirty-three teams competed in the 3.1 mile course, which offered excellent competition for the Lyons. Both Varsity and J.V. runners lined up to challenge each other. Jena Dower '88 finished first for MHC, followed by Lisa Siciliano '88 and Kristen Davis '88.

Captain Betsy Brown '86 said, "The point of the season was to get off the ground. We have done it, and we have done it well."

Senior Julianne Daley will be missed, but the team is looking forward to a strong showing next year.

CROSS COUNTRY

WITH THEIR SPIRIT . . .

ABBEY

Abbey Hall was named for Mrs. Emily Francis Abbey Gill, whose donation made it possible to build the dorm in 1939. The building is designed in the Georgian style to recreate the atmosphere of the original Mary Lyon Seminary building which was destroyed by fire in 1896. The women of the Abbey are a gregarious bunch, working and playing religiously. Abbey Hall is always faithful to "The Convent" — There's Nun Like 'Em .

BRIGHAM

Mary Brigham, the woman for which Brigham Hall is named, was to be the president of MHC, but died before her inauguration. Thus far in its history, Brigham Hall, like its namesake, had not reached its height as the real leader of dorms on campus. But in 1984, Brigham began its long-awaited reign of supreme residence-ship, restoring pride in the dorm as something other than the "Howard Johnson's dorm," the "firetrap," or the dorm with an over-abundance of well-educated, eccentric nerds. The popular TV series, "Cheers" was a Brigham favorite from the beginning, and they adopted the show's theme song lyrics for the dorm slogan, "You want to go where everybody knows your name." During Hazing, the especially enthusiastic 'shmen were required to hang a banner on the Smith College gates that declared "Mary Lyon Rules — MHC '88!!!" Being involved in the presidential elections, the dorm began a weekly news summary which was presented at dinner. Also, dorm members worked to collect funds for the Eliot House emergency offering for Ethiopia and to secure better lighting and security in parking lots. Brighamites dusted off Mary Brigham's reputation, and gave Brigham its new image. Cheers, Mount Holyoke! Brigham's back alive . . .

BUCKLAND

Buckland (Buk'lend), n. (origin: hometown of Mary Lyon), 1. site of decaying fish (see rooftop), 2. secret hide-out of notorious fish assassin, Betsy McLean, 3. setting for exquisite victuals (note: Baker Bob — we want an apology for that chicken!), 4. training camp for those brutal Buckaroos, (soccer champs and football finalists), 5. scene of first citizenship party on campus (see Rachel for details), 6. a pioneer of video parties (consult rack-a-disc or Randy for further information), 7. other party forms: dented apples, soggy doughnuts, and a cameo appearance by the Go-Go's on Halloween; tropics in November, 8. home base of those illustrious trippers with destinations such as the Wild Kingdom (Dartmouth), and the home of the Seminarian (Buckland, Mass.), ROOTS: the garden level (see loungers). SYN. — Club Buck.

DICKINSON

Built in 1917 as a step toward solving faculty housing problems, Dickinson was originally called (you guessed it) Faculty House. The name was changed in 1931 to honor the memory of Dr. Emma E. Dickinson (not to be confused with Emily), class of 1867. Located off-campus, Dickinson is now home for Frances Perkins students, graduate students, many foreign fellows, the occasional male exchange student, and anyone else who just wants to "get away from it all." Dickinson also houses those riotous people who stay in South Hadley over the summer.

Graduate Students & Staff: M. Azzano, V. Bali, F. Cohen, Y. Cui, D. de Castro, P. Godi, V. Groussard, C. Hay, C. Parisot, S. Rao, R. Saraswathi, G. Subramanian, S. Veeraraghavan. Class of '85: T. HAM

Residing on the shores of Upper Lake is the illustrious Pork Palace. Opened in 1965, it was named for President Emeritus Roswell Gray Ham (what a man!). Ham is definitely where the heart is, but residents this year wondered where their fearless leader was?! His bust was rumored to be at the bottom of Upper Lake — let's just hope the fish like blue glitter and zinc oxide. Mardi Gras just wasn't the same without good ol' Roz. Ham is international, universal, and now nationally known in Lisa Birnbach's new book. But changing the image of their beloved dorm was priority this year for those Hamlet/Hamela groupies. Home of Commander Salamander (in the salad), Ham always had an abundance of six porks of Schweinekin beer. Hog Heaven was the closest thing to paradise — the air was thin, but the insanity was dense. So, for all you petite couchants, when there ain't no beef — there's always Ham.

1837, also known locally as the "Ramada Inn of Dorms," sits on the suburban banks of Lower Swamp. Named for the year the college was founded, 1837 sports the shortest HP on campus, is the proud owner of a Santa suit, and possesses a COMPLETE set of Food Service dishware! The women of 1837 engage in a myriad of social activities, ranging from avid lounge-dwelling to wild, midnight IHOP excursions (the South Hadley police always received engraved invitations to all open parties). While dorm members feel that perhaps all of this was not Monet's impression, they proudly explain that 1837, with its "mod" furniture and purple hallways, is truly suburban life at its finest.

NORTH MANDELLE

The Mandelles, opened in 1923, were originally known as "Hillside," but were renamed in honor of Mary S. Mandelle. She was decorated by the Serbian government for her services in World War I and named Mount Holyoke College as one of three colleges to share equally in her estate. The rustic approach through the woods and the feeling that Shelley Winters is about to emerge from a bookcase clenching a dagger gives this place a distinct atmosphere. The hall was plagued early in the year by fire drills, but with its beautiful view, if you can stand the walk, head for the Mandelles!!

SOUTH MANDELLE

Situated on the lower edge of Prospect Hill, above the lake, and removed from the center of campus stands South Mandelle. The "Country Club" has a spectacular view of the Connecticut River Valley, Mt. Tom, and the Holyoke Range. The residents of South Mandelle boast the most expensive parking lot on campus, owning more BMW's and Audis per capita than any other residence hall (except perhaps North Mandelle). Despite the "invigorating" hike, the Shining Hall on the Hill is the better place to be!!

MEAD HALL

(To the tune of "Gilligan's Island")

Sit right back and you'll hear a tale, a tale of a fateful year . . . that started from Lower Lake shore in this mighty hall. The HP was a groovy gal, the Assistant brave and true, 124 Meadeorites signed aboard September 6th for a one year tour . . . a one year tour. The weather started getting cold, the leaves were falling down, if not for the parties and the M & C's, the dorm would run aground. No men, no mail, no motorcar, not a single luxury, like Mary Lyon in 1837, as primitive as can be (even she had Deacon Porter)! The dorm still stands on the edge of this uncharted Skinner Green, with the whole crew aboard this great dorm . . . we'll go down in history . . . we'll go down in history!!!

PEARSONS HALL

Pearsons Hall has traditionally been known as the "infamous party dorm" — and the residents indeed strive to live up to that fine reputation. Though situated on the dark side of 116, away from the hustle and bustle of campus, the folks in Pearsons are hardly a lonely crowd. After all, the bus stops here . . . and the CI, only a few short steps away, is home for many Pearsonites. Their close friend and neighbor, E.T. Kennan, can often be seen strolling with her dogs around their backyard. Pearsons, home of the '84 championship flag football team, also has the distinct honor of holding the record for "slowest escape from a potentially burning building." Let it be said that "Pearsons is no place like home — it's better!"

PORTER

Built in 1897, Porter Hall was named for Deacon Andrew W. Porter, the stern religious leader of the Mount Holyoke Female Seminary, who was said to have had an affair with Mary Lyon herself. What a namesake! Mindful of tradition, the Porter seniors had a truly successful period of Hazing. They put the freshmen to a variety of tasks, ranging from having them bring coffee to their morning professors, to announcing menu items at dinner. Popular with security, the social life at Porter sparked with two smoothly-run parties, "Where's the Beach?" and "New Year's Eve: Why Only Once a Year?" A few Porterites, needing to get away from it all, went camping in the living room, complete with tent, s'mores, and campfire songs. Near exam time, water-pistol warfare became the way to blow off steam. "Musical Roomates" was the favorite past-time of many dorm members, providing a steady stream of short and long-term visitors.

PROSPECT

Have you had any good prospects at Prospect lately? Named for the hill behind it, Prospect was built as a result of higher enrollment at the college and the pressure for more adequate housing. Though life was NOISY at Prospect, it wasn't necessarily the fault of boisterous residents, as a result of the painfully paper-thin walls. Though residents have a great view, there was once again a problem with that green stuff growing rampant in Lower Lake. In fact, Prospect's class of '88 was designated as SCUM (no, it's not as rude as you think — it means super cool underclassmen). However, all in all, '84-'85 held good perspectives for Prospect.

SOUTH ROCKEFELLER

The original Rockefeller Hall was destroyed by fire in December of 1922, just as students were leaving for the Winter holidays. Clothes, money, and railway tickets were lost, but arrangements were made for the railroads to honor the mere statements of students that they had paid for their transportation. The new hall was since built into two dorms in 1923. Heavily funded by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the hall was quickly dubbed "Rocky Jr." The naming of the hall in his honor was the first recognition he received from the Trustees for his many generous contributions. Even these days, the South Rocky women are still on the "Rocky Road" to success.

SAFFORD

Safford Hall, built in honor of Deacon Daniel Safford, may be the second smallest dorm on campus, but was by no means dull! Each floor had its own personality, ranging from academics and roadtrippers, to partiers and Dungeons and Dragons maniacs. Safford boasted the only laundry room on campus that could strike terror in the hearts of residents; not just because of moldy sweatsocks. They also housed a special boarder who didn't pay rent — the ghost that lives in the locked tower room. So, as the Safford saying goes, "Let the Competition Stare!"

WILDER

Wilder Hall, named in memory of Mary E. Wilder and donated by her husband, was opened in 1899. Stories of poltergeists have always pervaded the Mount Holyoke campus, but none are as convincing as those about Wilder (with perhaps the exception of haunted garbage shutes). The ghost which haunts the fourth floor became the fashion at Wilder this year with their "Ghostbuster" parties and other spirited activities. So come on over to the wilder side of life — we "ain't afraid of no ghosts!"

Mary Lyon first opened the doors of Mount Holyoke College to students on November 8, 1837. Fifty-four years later, the first Founder's Day was celebrated "to reunite its alumnae to whom their alma mater is ever dear and to inspire the undergraduates with renewed ambition to follow the example set by their predecessors." Founder's Day has served to recognize the achievements of many women, from Mary Lyon to admirable women of the current day. It is a day that showcases all that women can accomplish.

Founder's Day also has a lighter side. Sometime in the 1920's, a rumor circulated among the freshmen that on Founder's Day, the seniors would serve them ice cream on Mary Lyon's grave. It was just a rumor until a group of seniors made it a reality. The practice continued and is still observed today. As Mount Holyoke women move forward, they hold on to what is special from the past.

Everyone knows elfing is off to a "resounding" start when sleepy freshmen have to crash through newspapered doorways one morning in early October. What follows is a month filled with surprises such as candy, pizza, sundaes, flowers, toys and other trinkets. The surprises are left by mysterious sophomores named "Bozo," "The A Team," "Plato" or "Zinjanthropus."

Though October and elfing come to an end, the new friendships and memories made between sophomores and freshmen are long-lasting. Elfing adds fun, laughter and surprise to the beginning of the freshman's Mount Holyoke experience.

This year, Parent's Weekend was held October 12-14. There were many exciting activities, including an evening with comedian Robert Klein, the Mount Holyoke Regatta, assorted lectures and open houses. Parents participated in teas, cocktail hours, a gracious brunch and the annual picnic on Skinner Green.

The tradition of Parent's Weekend allows parents the opportunity to observe their daughters in their college world. As women becoming the leaders of our time, we must step back and give of our time to the people who gave us the chance to move forward.

Junior Show has been part of the Mount Holyoke College tradition since its birth in 1901. Over the years, it has undergone many changes and at times, failed to exist at all. Originally, Junior Show was simply another of the several dramatic performances put on by each of the four classes during the course of the year. It was sponsored by the Drama Club and did original plays, Shakespeare being the favorite, and was known as either Junior Play or Junior Vaudeville.

However, in 1908, the Junior class had a different idea of what a Junior Show could and should be. The class of 1909 put on the first original production; a musical comedy entitled Tale of the Griffin. Their story was set at Yoke Holmouth College and featured the scheming Gertrude Griffin, a junior who deceives everyone by pretending her brother Jack, a college senior, is the new Greek professor expected at the college in the fall. After many comical situations and misunderstandings, the real professor arrives, Jack and Gertrude's roommate find true love, and everyone else lives happily ever after.

Since 1920, the Junior Show is expected every Spring. It continues to be an annual college function much enjoyed by every class. Last year's Junior Show followed in the footsteps of the pilgrims of 1908 and was truly "infamous."

MOUNT HOLYOKE COLLEGE CLASS OF 1985

"The Infamous Women"

*I am the MHC senior;
I celebrate the me yet to come.
I toast to our own reunion
When we will return as alums . . .*

*And I look back on class;
I look back on friends.
And I burn with the spirit
Of all that I've learned.
And in time, and in time,
We will all return . . .*

*I am the MHC woman.
I glory in the glow of this place
proclaiming my alma mater
as I graduate from its space.*

*And we'll celebrate women, we'll celebrate those who carry the laurel while dressed in white clothes.
For in time, yes, in time
we will all return . . .*

*We are the infamous women and we're MHC
and in time, and in time
we will all return.*

*We did it!
We're outta' here!
We will return.*

In calm or stormy weather;

To fetch one if one goes astray,
To lift one if one is down,
To strengthen whilst one stands.
